

Internships Available

Pop Africana is offering internships for the following positions:

- Web/Graphic Design
- Photography
- Fashion/Editorial assistant
- Production/Assistant to the EIC.

These are truly exciting internships as it will give the individual a unique opportunity to work with highly motivated creatives and learn the nuts and bolts behind the publication's production process from the ground up.

Internship requires a minimum of 2 days in the editor's studio, familiarity with MAC platforms, and backgrounds to the positions listed.

Specifically, a background in photography and photo retouching is a must for photography interns with film editing as a plus.

Web/graphic design interns need to have functional knowledge of Flash/HTML/In Design/Photoshop/Illustrator and any other necessary design programs.

Both photography and design interns must provide physical portfolio and/or links to works online.

Fashion interns must be attuned to fashions in Africa, African designers and illustrate a desire to learn.

Assistant to the EIC requires strong organizational-and communications skills (i.e., writing, copy writing, verbal dialogue, and phone etiquette).

This internship position is best suited for an individual who pays attention to detail, who is punctual, and shows a dedicated approach to their work.

Individual must possess a strong love for fashion and a distinct personal style.

Fashion and production assistant interns should have a Bachelor's degree in topics relevant to fashion, art, English/communications or business.

Current college students are also eligible / credits will be given.

Please note that these internships are unpaid.

Successful candidates in these respective roles can lead to a position.

Send resume, cover letter and other requested materials to internship@popafricana.com